Jennifer Lopez,
Executive Director

As I reflect on this incredibly challenging year, I am truly thankful for our thriving CALPAL community – members, donors, and collaborators who came together with resilience and hope. Together with our members, we have served more than 41,560 youth, more than 200 law enforcement officers, and collaborated with more than 50 community partners! I am pleased to have further developed our CALPAL initiatives and platforms, so we can help even more.

Most fulfilling for me, however, was partnering with you to keep the CALPAL community engaged. Your support enabled us to host the Youth Mentoring Leadership Academy developing tomorrow's leaders today, the California PAL State Cup Soccer Tournament providing competitive opportunities for youth, and the Life After High School Conference preparing youth for college and careers. We provided POST certified credit for over 100 officers with our Innovations in Policing workshop at our Annual Members Training Conference and virtually at the California Correctional Peace Officers Association Symposium. Despite these unprecedented times, I have never felt more connected to the CALPAL community and even more grateful that we were able to positively impact so many young lives.
